Song of Worship	The Lord Is My Salvation

“When the men and women shouted, “Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord,” they had no cause to shout with bated breath, or to mar their joys with the remembrance of misery. No, in his kingdom there is unalloyed, unmingled joy. Shout, shout, ye that are subjects of King Jesus! Sorrows ye may have, but not from him, troubles may come to you because you are in the world, but they come not from him, His service is perfect liberty. His ways are ways of pleasantness, and all his paths are peace.”

Charles H. Spurgeon

Join us Wednesday evening as we continue our new study, The Pilgrim's Progress: A Guided Tour by Derek Thomas. The Pilgrim's Progress, written by John Bunyan over 300 years ago, is one of the most widely-circulated books ever to be published in the English language. In spite of its popularity in the past, many people today are not familiar with this masterpiece. Join respected pastor and theologian Dr. Derek Thomas as he takes readers along this allegorical journey, showing that Christians have as much to gain from this book today as they did hundreds of years ago. A study guide can be downloaded from www.ligonier.org.

The following is an excerpt from Charles H. Spurgeon's Treasury of David on Psalm 98, this morning's Call to Worship...

Verse 1. O sing unto the LORD a new song; for he hath done marvelous things. We had a new song before (Ps 96:1-13) because the Lord was coming, but now we have another new song because he has come and seen and conquered. Jesus, our King, has lived a marvelous life, died a marvelous death, risen by a marvelous resurrection, and ascended marvelously into heaven. By his divine power he has sent forth the Holy Spirit doing marvels, and by that sacred energy his disciples have also wrought marvelous things and astonished all the earth. Idols have fallen, superstitions have withered, systems of error have fled, and empires of cruelty have perished. For all this he deserves the highest praise.
